Bring The Spa Home!

Design Ideas For Your Remodel

There's no reason why your home bathrooms can't relax you just as much as a spa getaway. When considering your next remodel, here are some important factors to bring that relaxation to your home:

- Curb-less shower entries
- Heated floors and towel warmers
- Free standing tubs
- Improved storage and lighting

A Beautiful Marble Masterpiece

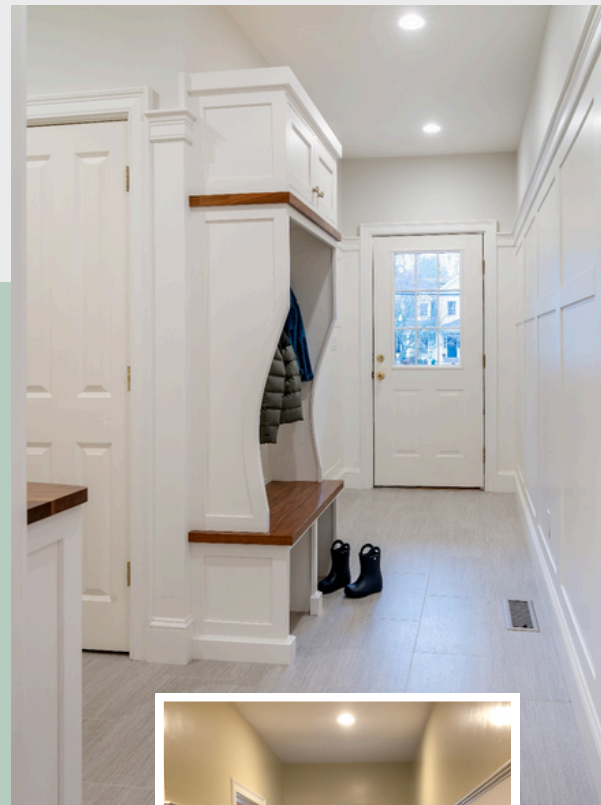

The original bathroom was outdated, dark, and disorganized. The existing tub was rarely used, the vanity was dark, there was a severe lack of storage, and a cavernous shower with an ongoing mold issue. The old jacuzzi was replaced with a marble soaking tub, and the vanity was redesigned for more storage space. The old shower was completely remodeled and now has proper ventilation to eradicate mold issues, and was opened up to let in more light and appear larger.

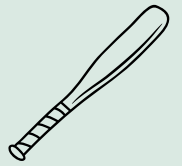

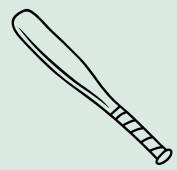

Welcome Home!

An All-In-One Entryway

This beautiful home was in need of an entrance that matched the beauty of the rest of the home not only for the family to enjoy, but for all of their guests as well. This project included remodeling the mudroom as well as an attached powder room.

- Seamless wainscot paneling throughout
- A custom bench and cubbies with walnut features
- A built-in mirror in the powder room
- Custom cabinetry with plenty of storage
- New flooring, paint, lighting, and amenities

2025 Mitchell Construction Softball Tournament

We had our first ever softball tournament, and it was a hit! The company split into two teams and we had an afternoon of fun, laughs, and friendly competition! Congratulations to our winners!

Pros & Cons: Replacement vs. New Construction Windows

What's The Difference?

The fundamental difference between replacement and new construction windows is that replacement windows fit into existing frames, while new construction windows require existing frames to be removed and replaced

New Construction Windows

Pros

- Address structural issues
- Add value to your home
- Save on energy costs
- Helps regulate indoor temperatures
- Update your homes appearance

Cons

- A higher upfront cost
- Easier for the average contractor to install
- Usually faster to complete

There are many factors when it comes to updating your home, and it's important to consider every factor. Windows can have a massive impact on insulation and energy costs inside of your home, and an estimated 30% of heating and cooling energy is wasted due to faulty windows.
